The Chronicle.

It is a much shrunken Magazine that bears the impress of 1917. For this, no apology is offered; if apology be needed, it is for the issue of any magazine at all under the stress of war conditions. However, after mature consideration, it was felt that to let the year pass without any record would occasion a regrettable breach in the School annals and be a source of disappointment to many of the Association who, unable to attend meetings, rely on their yearly "HAVE MYNDE" to keep them in touch with the School in being and the friends of their own School days. Accordingly, the contents have been greatly restricted and no literary contributions solicited; while news of Old Girls has had to be severely edited before being included in Association Notes.

The Distribution of Prizes took place on Thursday, November 2nd, Lady Arthur Grosvenor kindly presenting the prizes to the winners. At this gathering, the School and the assembled parents had the opportunity of hearing two guests new to our platform, Bishop Mercer and Canon Hylton Stewart, both of whom spoke very interestingly.

An interesting experiment in social organisation has been made this year with very good results by the incorporation of the girls into 'Houses,' North, South, East and West. Each 'House' represents a vertical section of the School, for each draws members from every form, from the Sixth to the Kindergarten. The Houses have distinctive colours; the North blue, the South green, the East yellow, the West red. Each girl wears the colour of her House in the form of a tiny badge of ribbon; each House displays a shield in its appropriate colour on the School Notice Board. Every week, the Heads of Houses report the position of their Houses as established by the Honour weeks standing to their credit after their value has been mulcted in such Order Marks as have been incurred by irresponsible members. The House that leads has its shield advanced to the top of the Board; the House which stands fourth has to endure for a week the ignominy of seeing its shield, not only at the bottom of the board, but reversed—a reminiscence here of the laws of Chivalry.

The arrangement has proved stimulative of all School activities; of none more than of the Choral Competition now a yearly institution. Last year, Canon Hylton Stewart kindly acted as judge and tempered criticism with praise most encouraging. The North House being declared victorious arranged a Concert as follows:—

1. Song and Chorus ... "Raise us a Riddle" ... ..
Solo—ELEANOR GORNALL.

GOD SAVE THE KING.

On November 3rd, the School listened to a most interesting address on "Russia and its People" from Mrs. Elborough, who had just returned from a visit to Russia in connection with the work of the Women's Red Cross Unit serving in Petrograd. She had toured through a great part of Russia—had even been on the South-Eastern front—and had much to relate of the extraordinary difficulties of transit where vehicles are still of the most primitive, and the best contrived plans for to-day are always translated into 'to-morrow' by the peasant who has cordially concurred in them. Most poignant was her account of the tragic breaking up of homes among a people where there is no community of language, where the majority can neither read nor write, where many have no surnames and, once separated from their families, can hardly hope to find the way back to their homes even if they survive the war. It was with much sympathy that the School contributed what it could to the relief of the Russian Refugees.

A Theatrical Entertainment was given on December 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th, the plays produced being "The Jar of Olives" and "She Stoops to Conquer." Of the theatricals qua theatricals, it is unnecessary to write, as a member of the audience has been good enough to review them in another part of the Magazine; but there were circumstances connected with this particular production which call for special record. For the first time, it was possible to produce the plays under ideal conditions in the School itself, and this, thanks to the generous kindness of certain friends of the School. Mr. Alfred Ayrton was the fons et origo of the movement. On more occasions than one when the Queen's School performers were appearing, now in one hall, now in another, he had rendered valuable assistance in eking out insufficient staging and properties. This year, when consulted, he made the pronouncement that the School must have its own stage. There was no time to feel breathless; almost before the idea could be grasped in all its magnitude, difficulties had vanished and coadjutors appeared in the persons of Mr. Welsby and Mr. Britton. The result is that the Queen's School has now a model private theatre, with artistic and harmonious setting and perfect lighting. When it is not required, the whole erection can be taken down and packed away, leaving only the dignified platform which makes such a useful and important addition to the Assembly Hall. The audiences must have shared the satisfaction felt by the School, for they were more genial even than those of earlier performances. Not the least appreciative were the wounded soldiers who, with the girls and boys of the Blue Schools, filled the hall at the first performance. Tea was provided and served by members of the Old Girls' Association; the mother of a present pupil who herself was a Queen's School girl, sent five hundred cigarettes; the Ladies' Orchestra again as on many other occasions added to the gaiety of the entertainment. Where so much zealous service was so freely given, it is difficult to particularise, but special acknowledgement must be made of the help given by Mrs. Ayrton, Mrs. H. F. Brown and Miss Travers who, day after day, spent hours cutting up provisions; of Mrs. Noel Humphreys' kindness in 'making up' excited and squirming young Britons into dusky Asiatics; of the unflagging energies of the staff whether in stage-managing, War-time-ticketing, or—as in one case—taking the part of an invalid actress at a few hours' notice.

March 14th was an Open Day and visitors were numerous both in the morning when classes were following their normal course, and in the afternoon when a Concert was given, as also an address by the Head Mistress on Modern Aims and Methods in the Teaching of Music, Drawing and Sewing. It was gratifying to observe that many parents made a point of being present both morning and afternoon.

On Empire Day, there was the usual recitation of patriotic poetry, and on May 26th a sale of Empire Day badges; but the festivities in honour of the day were postponed until May 30th. This year they took the form of Sports. The successful Competitors received, instead of prizes, ribbon badges in order that a contribution might be made to the Public School Fund for the endowment of a bed in the new Women's Hospital, and the amount thus raised, together with the generous donations of visitors, has enabled the School to send the sum of £8 8s. 5d. to the Treasurer of the Hospital.

Some account of the War Work undertaken by the School is given elsewhere. A War Charities' Association was found the best organisation for the administration of such funds as were at the disposal of the School, which accordingly applied for and obtained recognition as soon as the School theatricals supplied a substantial fund. The School has also been enrolled as a War Savings' Association since early in the present year, the first subscription being paid on January 29th. The first members numbered forty; there are now forty-nine. Up to the week ending June 2nd, fifty-eight certificates have been bought out of weekly subscriptions amounting in all to £45 3s. 11d. In view of the amounts devoted to gifts, this is not otherwise than satisfactory; but it is hoped that, on consideration, more girls may see their way to becoming subscribers.

The First Aid and Scout-Craft Class still flourishes under Miss Maris' guidance and was represented in the Sports, when its members put on certain healthy "invalids" broad arm slings, stopped bleeding at the wrist with bandages hastily improvised from their own attire, and, dashing into the School, re-appeared with splint substitutes ranging from the light feather brush to the very substantial Hockey stick.

Gardening under the very efficient guidance of Miss Day and other Mistresses has called for much energy. A lawn in the back garden has been converted into a potato plot and the chrysanthemums in the beds in front of the School have given place to the same useful vegetable. The Gardening contingent also has designs on the much-cemented and unpromising strip of ground in front of the New Wing, which has for some time been an eyesore; but as its peculiar 'soil' and northerly aspect do not promise much fertility, it has been decided to convert it into a paved garden with bricks kindly provided for the purpose by the Royal Chester Infirmary.

The heartiest congratulations of the School were accorded to the Queen's Scholar and Head Girl, Irene Naylor, who has won an Open Scholarship in History at Lady Margaret, Oxford. She will carry with her the best wishes of her fellows and of the Staff when she goes into residence in October.

No less cordial are our congratulations to Margaret Welsby, who has gained a First Class in the Economics Tripos, Pt. I. The School is proud of being so worthily represented at Girton by its Nessie Brown scholar and wishes her all success in the ensuing year.

The present School year will not close without bringing an unusual measure of regret, for farewells must be bidden to Miss Maris, Miss Baker and Miss Smart. After seven years of valuable service as Science Mistress and two years as Second Mistress, Miss Maris has volunteered for foreign service. Her pupils will miss her greatly, but will realise that they will best show their appreciation of what she has done for them by continuing to work zealously under her successor at the subjects which were her special interest. Miss Baker also is leaving after demonstrating even to doubters the adaptability of Latin to their urgent needs by promoting answers in Latin to challenges to Cricket. As she is to be resident in Liverpool, it is hoped that the School may be often visited by her. No hope of this, alas, is possible in the case of Miss Smart who is joining a sister in Yorkshire. The Games Club will feel her loss and her own little people in the Kindergarten miss her more perhaps than they will realise.

In Memoriam.

LUCY ASHINGTON.

It is with much regret that we record the death of Miss Lucy Yerburch Ashington, a former Mistress of the Queen's School, Chester. Miss Ashington joined the staff when Mrs. Sandford was Head Mistress, and left in 1904. She continued to take the warmest interest in the School, and it was with pleasure that we heard that, after some years devoted to travel, she intended to settle in Chester as our near neighbour. Old Girls whose school life coincided with the period of Miss Ashington's School work, who knew the kindly interest that she always took in them, will hear of her death with sorrow.

THE REV. CANON BINNEY.

THE REV. CANON COGSWELL.

The School has been unhappy in losing the services of two valued representatives of the Dean and Chapter on the Governing Body. Canon Binney's death took place a year ago, too late for a notice of it to appear in the Magazine of 1916. Although his connection with the School had been but short, it was yet long enough for him to manifest his vital interest in its well-being.

We must deplore, too, the shortness of Canon Cogswell's governorship and the ill-health which saddened it and limited his activities in relation to the affairs of the School.

It is not often, in this work-a-day world, that one meets a Magic Carpet, but I was lucky enough to meet one not six months ago, when, without any warfare and fighting, or any dusty travelling or scorching sun, I found myself in Baghdad. In fact, it was bitterly cold during the ten minutes that I took to get there. When I did arrive, what met my eyes—Sunshine and colour, a most seductive Antique shop, merchants, slaves, a real Grand Vizier, a Cadi, wicked-eyed little veiled ladies, one in particular who was more skilled in the art of making eyes than any of her sisters—though she reserved her blandishments for the most wealthy of her masculine friends—and, finally, a beautiful jar of so-called Olives, in reality filled with golden coin of the realm.

Now if there isn't the making of a really thrilling plot in such a scene, I do not know where else one could find it. All was so real, that it was only the fact that a curtain fell between the acts which made us realize that we were a mere audience looking at a very beautiful new stage, with very beautiful new curtains and quite the latest effects in stage lighting. But when the curtain went up, we were once more globe trotters in the East, and were eagerly watching to see justice administered to the thief who stole the golden coin, and hoping—in which we were not disappointed—to see retribution fall on the head of the eye-making and alluring little Badoura, who sorted her lovers as one sorts cards, with the highest at the top.

Justice being fairly administered by a very youthful subject of the Grand Vizier, the curtain fell for the last time on that engaging company—to rise on a very different scene: England this time, England of Goldsmith's days, England of "She Stoops to Conquer."

I want very much to pick out each member of this new company and say it was the best. That is impossible for they can't all be best. For instance—Mrs. Hardcastle was quite excellent, but then so was Mr. Hardcastle, and their charming Kate was sweet enough to turn the heads of many young Marlows. And Tony Lumpkin couldn't have been better, and young Marlow couldn't have been more lackadaisical and foppish, or more manly when he apologized for his mistakes. And then we come to Constance Neville and her Hastings and Sir Charles Marlow, and we can only be delighted at the excellence of them all.

Much praise is due to all who took part, and to the theatrical Managers of these companies. We have to thank Miss Clay and her staff and all the performers from our hearts and beg them to do it again next year.

The Queen's School Association of Past and Present Pupils.

The Annual General Meeting took place on Wednesday, 21st June, in the Queen's School Science Room. Miss Clay took the Chair at 3-10 p.m. Twenty-two members were present. Letters of regret for absence were received from 30 members.

A list of thirteen new members was read.

The Minutes of the last Meeting were read and confirmed. The re-election of the Hon. Secretaries (K. Day, H. Atcherley) and the Hon. Treasurer (Mrs. Ayrton) was proposed by Mrs. Brown, seconded by N. Day, and carried unanimously.

The re-election of the Cot Treasurer (M. Dickson) was proposed by Mrs. Leonard Smith, seconded by K. Day, and carried unanimously. Two nominations for the Cot Secretaryship, vacant on the retirement of G. Humfrey, were made—Ruth Welsby (proposed by Mrs. Ayrton), Jessie Brown (proposed by K. Day). On a vote being taken, Ruth Welsby was declared elected. The nomination and election of five Committee Members resulted in the election of Elsie Brotherton, Miss H. Giles, Mrs. H. F. Brown, Jessie Brown, Sylvia Thornton-Jones: Form VI. to be represented by Irene Naylor.

The election of Miss Spurling and Miss R. Baker, as Honorary Members, was proposed by Miss Clay, seconded by Mrs. Smith, and carried unanimously.

Miss Clay explained that the alterations in the Magazine, of which the adoption of a plain cover was the most striking, had been made in the interests of economy: the more familiar cover might be restored in more prosperous times if there were a general desire for it.

A discussion on the maintenance of the Cot was opened by Miss Clay. There had for some years been difficulty in raising the sum of £25. Through a misunderstanding, subscriptions last year were only partially collected, so that no money had been paid for the current year to the Treasurer of the Royal Infirmary. M. Dickson read a letter from the Secretary of the Royal Infirmary stating that the Committee would be pleased to accept the smaller sum of £15 to £20 for the up-keep of the Queen's School Cot. Letters had been received from many subscribers, deprecating the abandonment of the Cot, and offering increased subscriptions. A motion that the Association aim at a minimum of £15, and as much more as possible, was proposed by Miss Clay, seconded by Mrs. H. F. Brown, and carried unanimously. The Hon. Secretary was instructed to communicate the decision to the Secretary of the Royal Infirmary, and the Hon. Treasurer of the Cot Fund was instructed to forward her balance of £18 17s. 11d. to the Hon. Treasurer of the Royal Infirmary.

The Hon. Treasurer read her balance sheet which shewed a balance of £24. The disposal of this balance was referred to the Committee, which decided that it should be invested in the 6 per cent. Exchequer Bonds.

The motion that the Prize to the School (£1 1s. 0d.) be given as usual was made by Mrs. H. F. Brown, seconded by R. Welsby, and carried. A hearty vote of thanks to Miss Clay for presiding and editing the Magazine was proposed by R. Welsby, seconded by K. Day, and carried by acclamation. Miss Clay in reply said a few words about the Register of Candidates for War Work maintained by the Head Mistresses. She lamented the few answers (3) which had been received in response to an advertisement in the Chester papers for names of old Queen's School girls engaged in War-work, and earnestly asked all members to help in collecting and sending information. She also hoped for the co-operation of the Old Girls in the forthcoming Autumn Entertainment. She gave some information respecting the School, and mentioned the fact that there were now 145 names on the School books. Tea was served in the Cloisters at 4 o'clock, and at 5 o'clock the meeting transferred itself to the playing-field, where a Cricket Match, Past v. Present girls, took place. Stumps were drawn at 7 o'clock. The non-players occupied themselves with knitting or darning socks for the hospitals.

The Autumn Meeting took the form of a gathering, by invitation, at the School Dramatic Entertainment, on Wednesday, December 13th. The Old Girls provided tea for the wounded soldiers, who, with the boys and girls of the Blue Schools, were the guests of the Queen's School at that performance.

Association Notes.

The old pupils of the Queen's School continue to do their share of war work in the Banks, Hospitals, Army Offices, and even the Army Remount Department, while a satisfactory number are entering the permanent professions. By the way, it might be suggested that teaching is one of the "permanent professions."

Dorothy Stewart is now studying medicine as well as carrying on her work as Demonstrator in Physiology in the Women's Hospital in London.

Betty Imison, writing of the experiences of a First Year Medical Student at the Liverpool University, relates:—"The First Year is one long year of lectures and practical work. The women attend exactly the same course as the men. The lectures are all followed by practical work. Practical Chemistry proves a somewhat exhausting and uncertain occupation with war-time glass. Practical Zoology is everyone's favourite: the dissection and microscopic work are both very interesting. Every fortnight there is a debate. The speakers are students of all years. At the end of the session the debate is impromptu. Perhaps the most coveted "experience" is to go round a hospital. A kindly disposed senior student may offer to take a 'fresher' through the wards, not as a mere visitor, but wearing the regulation white coat with a stethoscope in the pocket. Such visits are few and far between, but they give some real insight into the work ahead."

Margaret Dibben is forewoman in a Lancashire Foundry. It is a position full of interest and possibilities of improving the lot of the women; but at the same time it is trying and demands the exercise of much patience and tact.

Florence Andrew has finished her training for social work, and now holds the important post of Secretary to the School of Social Science in the University of Liverpool.

Marjorie Sudds is to be congratulated on having obtained a 1st Class Diploma for Needlework and Dressmaking at the London Polytechnic.

Marjorie Smyth is doing useful war-work at the Chester Army Remount Depôt.

Margaret Welsby is heartily congratulated on winning her 'Blue.' She was in the Cambridge eleven for the Inter-Varsity Hockey Match. Just as we go to press comes more, and more excellent news—that she has gained a First Class in the Economics Tripos, Pt. I.: we rejoice in her success.

TENNIS CLUB.

SEASON 1916.

OFFICERS: Captain ...	...	B. Imison.
Secretary ...	...	J. Ayrton.
Treasurer ...	...	R. Dutton.

Inter-house Matches in Tennis, Cricket, Rounders, and Hockey were played for the first time. Betty Imison gave us an inter-house tennis bowl, and Ruth Dutton an interhouse hockey bowl. Both these gifts were very much appreciated, and now occupy a prominent position in the school hall. D. Hills, A. Tombs and J. Turner kindly gave yards of netting with which to cover the flower beds, thus preventing the loss of many balls.

On Thursday, July 14th, the Staff played the Tennis Team. The return match was played on July 24th. Both matches were most enjoyable and had the same result. The Mistresses of the 1st and 2nd couples were victorious, and the girls of the 3rd couple.

LEAGUE MATCHES.

The Annual Tournament of the C.H.S.L.T.L. took place on Saturday, July 1st, at Stockport, in very bad weather.

The Stockport representatives were again successful in winning the challenge rose bowl, but Macclesfield put up a good fight for it. The first two rounds were played before lunch, which was kindly provided at the High School. The finals followed.

The Queen's School representatives were Betty Imison and Olwen Phillips, who were unfortunately beaten in the first round, in spite of their vigorous practices and enthusiasm.

THE HOCKEY LEAGUE.

At a business meeting held after the C.H.S.L.T.T. at Stockport, it was decided that the Hockey League should be dissolved, that the Shield should be held by Chester, and that the funds (£1 17s. 5d.) should be given to the Tennis League.

QUEEN'S SCHOOL ELEVEN.

M. Jackson, M. Briant, M. Cartwright, G. Dent, M. Elliott, K. Catherall, D. Beck, M. Barker-Jones, D. Britton, E. Dutton, E. Miln.

Last season the weather was exceptionally wet, and many practices were missed and matches very few. It would, therefore, not be profitable to criticise the play of individual girls. If next season brings better weather, the first eleven should be good, for, on the whole, it promised well.
